

AMERICAN INDIAN
Commercial Tobacco Program

LET THIS BE YOUR REASON

Help and support is just a phone call away. The American Indian Commercial Tobacco Program is a free, culturally-tailored quitline service available to help pregnant women quit smoking. The compassionate, dedicated coaches understand that quitting is about so much more than not smoking. They understand how guilt and stress play a role in wanting to quit, but not being able to. For the health of you and your  future generations, call today.
